New Policies

by Les Derkovitz

Both during and after the last Delamar Launch, several of us spent a lot of time grumbling about so few of the club members participating in set up and operation of our launches. With at least 15 good members, it seems the same three or four members get stuck transporting, setting up, trouble shooting the launch equipment. These same people serve as RSO and LCO as well as tearing down and cleaning up. We want all of our launches well attended—not only with participants launching—but also participants conducting the launch. Everyone should have a good time (an opportunity to fly), that is what this hobby is all about.

Along with these frustrations, one other blem really bothered me at Delamar. When we had to test the launch system (especially the far pads), it was impossible to communicate between launch control and the pads. People always promise to bring CBs, but some how they never show up.

We brought up all these issues at the last Thursday night meeting and had a productive discussion where several ideas were offered to solve these daunting problems. Lance and I volunteered to donate a CB (which will be kept in the club range box) to help insure adequate communication; one problem solved.

Now for the big problem: club participation. Ron suggested one solution used by his archery club to solve the problem; Ron's solution later gained a vote of approval. The nice thing about his solution is it provides an easy method of accountability. Here's how it will work: When you pay your dues this year (they are due now), you'll get a membership card with numbers ranging from one to twelve around the outside edge. Each time you spend an hour working to help the club, you get a number punched. Also, you may get one or more numbers punched if you build something for the club like launch equipment or donate items to the club etc. The excutive board will discuss and decide how many numbers get punched on an individual basis for these special cases. Every member is expected to get 12 numbers punched (a rough equivalent of 12 hours of time) during the fiscal year (May to May). For each unpunched number, you will be required to pay an additional $10 over and above the $15 membership fee in order to renew your membership in the club. If you never do any work during the year and have no punches, you'll have 12 numbers unpunched at $10 each ($120) plus the $15 for a total of $135 required to renew membership in the club. I should mention that we will prorate the number punches required as well as the membership fee for someone joining during the year.

It is our hope that this system will be as well recieved by those of you who couldn't make the June meeting as it was by those attending. The system is intended to be a positive incentive to work for the club and its members. I hope you will feel that way about it. On thing that is super important, especially for our big launches (Turkey and Delamar), when you promise to be there and work some duties, you must show up no matter what and be there on time. You have no idea how embarrassing and frustrating it is in front of people from around the country when we have to say we can't start or do what they need because the guy didn't show up (or he hasn't arrived yet).

It is election time; at the end of the June meeting the following were nominated for office:

President:

Tom Blazinin
Les Derkovitz
Steve Ainsworth

Vice President:

Tom Blazinin
Brent McNeely
Ron Denton

Secretary/Treasurer

Foxtrot BILL AMEND

From the Editor: My Confession

Late Again

Well I screwed up; shoot me. I'm late again with no more of an excuse than I didn't realize the launch was so close and didn't make arrangements for material for the newsletter. Although I enjoy doing the newsletter for the club, I feel I have let you down again. You have every right to be peeved, especially after the heated discussion at last month's meeting about people following through with their commitments. You may want to ask yourself if I'm the best person for the job. Although I enjoy doing the newsletter, I would feel good about being replaced in light of my performance to date. The choice is up to you. If you want to replace me let me know. If you find it in your heart to give me another wack at it, I'll do my best to get more organized and get the newsletter out the door sooner.

Web Site Change

I got a bill in the mail this last month for $45 for the club's web site which I thought was being provided free. I guess there is not such thing as free anymore. Anyway, rather than incurring additional bills like this, I moved the site over to my regular internet provider, Wizard.com, where I get a free Web Site included with my monthly regular fee. This change equates to no cost to the club and no additional cost to me. I've already contacted all the other Tripoli Web Sites and provided them with the new address and I contacted Yahoo! to get our site listed in their directory (Yahoo! is one of the biggest and best directories on the Web). The new address is: www.wizard.com/~planetds
